The screenshot shows the Knowledge hub global page. It features a 'Welcome to the Knowledge hub' section with a message: 'Looking for information on all things Fremantle? You've come to the right place. The Knowledge hub is your new global home for important policy, procedure and support information. It's designed to be quick and easy to use, so please take a moment to have a look around.' Below this is a 'Latest knowledge hub updates' section with a post from June 3 about a new knowledge hub and home page. To the right of this section are 'Key sections' with icons for 'New Knowledge Hub', 'Policies', 'Procedures', and 'Support'. Below these are 'Latest policy updates' with four policy documents: 'Data Classification Policy', 'Confidentiality Policy', 'Data Protection Policy (GDPR)', and 'Cloud Computing Policy'.

OUR MBA SCHOLARSHIP IS BACK FOR 2019

Nomad Foods' MBA scholarship is just one of the ways we're helping our people reach their full potential. Read on to find out more.

What is it?
Typically one MBA Scholarship is awarded each academic year and provides financial support for course fees, exam fees, support materials and accommodation where necessary.

Why do we offer an MBA Scholarship?
We know that a degree is only as good as its people, which is why we're committed to training, empowering and equipping our people with the skills they need to develop and grow. The MBA Scholarship offers a fantastic opportunity for professional and personal development.

THE TOP 15 LEARNING DEPARTMENTS 2019

We're delighted to be recognized by the Learning and Performance Institute (LPI) as having one of the Top 15 Highest Performing Learning Departments. This is thanks to the passion of all our great people who love to learn, develop and grow!

Find out more on the LPI website

Three colleagues share their MBA Scholarship experiences and expectations.

Stephanie Hoekings, R&D Manager UK/Ireland
I've been fortunate to see through the MBA at UCL, Brunel University, Queen's and my experience. I've been able to challenge myself, learn, study and pushing myself, and an MBA is a fantastic opportunity for me to think in a strategic, opportunities where I can practice those learnings directly on the job. It has been invaluable. I've been working with Nomad Foods for almost six years, started as a placement student at Lovell's, before joining a sales team and graduate scheme within the R&D department at the outset of my career. I've stayed with the company all these years because they invest in people and I've been a real beneficiary of that.

Matteo Romano, National Account Manager
Having had my degree in Italy at UCL Business School of Management in the beginning of May, and then to start with the challenge of starting my work, study and personal commitments for next. This is a great opportunity to meet new people and create a network that will help me in my role. It's also needed to be able to share my knowledge and learning to help back and inspire my colleagues.

Giulia Pedersen, Head of Sell Out, Finland Italy
I've been able to see through the MBA at UCL, Brunel, Queen's and the end of May. I've been able to challenge myself, learn, study and pushing myself, and an MBA is a fantastic opportunity for me to think in a strategic, opportunities where I can practice those learnings directly on the job. It has been invaluable. I've stayed with the company all these years because they invest in people and I've been a real beneficiary of that.

Is the MBA Scholarship for me?
Successful completion of an MBA requires significant investment from the student and those supporting them. That why we have developed the following criteria to ensure maximum benefit:

- Minimum 2.4 in all modules
- Work Level 2+ or equivalent
- 18 months continuous service
- High potential: demonstrates the potential to grow into more responsible and senior roles including the operational leadership team and Executive Team
- Have an up-to-date personal development plan and career development plan in which an MBA has been identified as a key element of future progression
- Have the capacity and capability to successfully complete an MBA.

What does the application process involve?
MBA Directors are asked to work with their leadership teams to identify potential applicants for the MBA Scholarship and discuss the opportunity with them. If all parties agree that an MBA Scholarship is the right next step, a formal application form is completed and submitted to the senior LPI team. In 2018 applications are invited before 20th April 2019. Before awarding the MBA Scholarship, applicants are shortlisted and interviewed by Senior Development, CEO and Brian Murray, Group HR Director.

If you want to find out more about the MBA Scholarship, please contact Sarah Barton.

Supplying quality medicines to patients, wherever they are

Our medicines help patients in approximately 60 countries around the world. They help people return to work, spend less time together and spend more time with their kids. With the potential to improve lives, isn't it a mission and a privilege to make a healthy world a better one – something our colleagues in Global Manufacturing and Supply know only too well. That's why we introduced a new digital planning tool – known as ATOMS – that uses advanced data modeling techniques to better manage global inventory and meet our patients' global needs where ever we're needed most.

It can take years to implement changes in a manufacturing process. So change controls are usually an investment in our future patients, ensuring they receive a steady supply of top-class medicines from state-of-the-art manufacturing processes, wherever they are.

CPRE Who we are

Our vision
A beautiful and living English countryside that is valued and enjoyed by everyone

Our mission
To promote, enhance and protect the English countryside

What makes CPRE unique?
Our campaigning is evidence-based and reasoned, as well as passionate. We are experts in the planning system and landscape character, locally and nationally. We have a long track record of achievement, dating back 60 years. We do not own land but defend the countryside in the public interest.

How we act
With clarity, openness and honesty, basing our advocacy on strong evidence and proposing solutions wherever possible - working co-operatively across CPRE and with other organisations and individuals.

Our aims

- To promote and enhance the character of the countryside
- To promote a more sustainable approach to land use
- To defend the countryside from damaging development

Our goals

- A planning system that protects and enhances the countryside as well as achieving positive outcomes for people, the economy and the environment
- Efficient infrastructure systems that enhance the beauty and vitality of the countryside
- Rural landscapes and character are protected and enhanced

How it all began

CPRE was founded in 1957 as the Council for the Preservation of Rural England by Patrick Abercrombie. Following his pioneering publication 'The Country House' in 1957, he established the need for an organisation to oversee the development, planning and infrastructure that complemented the countryside, avoided unnecessary destruction and measures are taken to defend it - and we're still around today.

To achieve this we work to influence policy makers to make the right decisions when it comes to the protection and provision both in the form of evidence based research and by generating public support. Our work is based on years of hard work in campaigning for such protection and recognition, boasting countless achievements along the way. The future of the countryside of England may look very different today.
